NO MASS THIS COMING WEEK

Fr Doug

It is very kind that Fr Doug has kindly agreed to take over today, due to some very unfortunate personal circumstances with Fr David this past week.

However, Fr David will be back next week in time for Mothering Sunday!

Please be aware that there will be no Mass this coming week, and neither will there be Lent Group happening. Apologies to those who may have turned up last week expecting to have mass and Lent group, but due to unexpected circumstances, this couldn't happen.

PCM

This year, our APCM will be held on Sunday 1st May 2022, following our Mass. Therefore, all APCM reports must be in no later than Sunday 3rd April. The APCM reports will be available to read from Sunday 17th April (Easter Day).

Holy Week and Easter

Diaries for Holy Week and Easter services will be available from Sunday 3rd April, so we know exactly what is going on! It has been asked about Easter flowers, and whether we are having a collection to contribute to our Easter flowers. The flower committee spoke about this, and it was decided that we will have Easter flowers, but emphasis to be celebrated for our Patronal Festival. We will still be collecting for dedications for Easter flowers, but perhaps scale down displays, and we can boost our displays for our Patronal this year. Perhaps you may like to contribute and have a name/s remembered for our loved ones who have departed. Forms for these will be available soon.

Mothering Sunday

Is next week! Please be aware that clocks go FORWARDS 1 hour as British Summer Time begins, and the heating will probably go off! If you would like to have your Daffodil, you better turn up on time!
