MASS TIMES THIS WEEK AND PALM SUNDAY

Please note; Mass this Wednesday morning will be at the earlier time of 10am. Next Sunday, we will gather at 10.55am in the Memorial Garden.

NEXT SATURDAY

Is a concert in aid of supporting Kyiv; you may have seen the banner on the church wall? The concert begins at 5:30pm, with a bar and an interval! If you cannot make the concert, perhaps you might like to buy a candle and light it for 24 hours? Candles will be available on the day. Tickets to the concert can be purchased on-line at £10pp.

HOLY WEEK AND DIARIES

Is available from today, so please take a booklet and be up to date of what is happening. Holy week is a very special time, and for the last few years, we have had to change things around, and this year will be no exception. Next week, we begin with Palm Sunday, and weather permitting, we will begin outside in the Memorial Garden at 10:55 and gather to process into church. Please do enter fully into the journey of Holy Week, so that we may enter fully into the joys of Easter and the Resurrection.

If you would like to contribute to flowers, and perhaps have a memorial name card in memory of someone, please fill in a form clearly, and offer your donations to Yvonne so we can add some flowers to the Easter celebrations.

APCM

This year, our APCM will be held on Sunday 1st May 2022, following our Mass. Therefore, all APCM reports must be in no later than today! The APCM reports will be available to read from Sunday 17th April (Easter Day).

THE ORGAN

It is with much sadness, that our organ was due for a tuning last week, but sadly, the organ tuner identified that the instrument is in such poor condition, that it has officially come to the end of its life. Unfortunately, we are unable to use the organ for any of our services in the foreseeable future; thankfully, our organist is still able to play for us and the use of the piano is the best we can offer at this time. The organ committee are very much on to the issue, and we are working closely with the Diocese on the matter.
